Our China and Bric-a-Brac Store is at Its Best. Wedding Presents a Specialty.

Wedding presents will be in order for the next two months and after that comes Christmas. Just what to get is a problem-especially with those of us (and it's a large majority) who are limited as to what we can spend.

Our China and Bric-a-Brac Store is a good place to come to, under these circumstances. Open stock patterns in China offer very helpful suggestions. Two of them in Haviland, two in Limoges, one in German and four in Domes-

Fancy imported articles in Venetian and Bohemian Glass. Our Cut Glass is all in new shapes and much lower in price than you usually find. Vases from all over the pottery world such as Royal Bonn for $5,89 with beautiful flower decorations. Japanese Vases for $6.00 decorated after the odd fashion of the little brown skinned people of the east. Solid Brass Candelabra, with seven lights, for $8.00.

Finely Glazed Umbrella Stands-real works of art-for $8.00, and so on

It's a beauty show that must be seen to be appreciated and we're only too glad to show you these pretty things whether you're ready to purchase or not.

Social and Personal

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. William B. Graves for the marriage of their niece. Miss Leonora Waddill, to Mr. Robert Henry Talley.

The ceremony will be performed Thursday, October 15th, at 4 P. M., in Saint Thomas' Church, Garrison Forrest, Md., by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Smith. Immediately afterwards, the bride and groom will leave for a Northern wedding tour. They will return to spend the winter at No. 115 East Franklin Street, about October 25th.

SOLD INTEREST IN

Mr. Beck Said to Have Purchased it from St. George

It was learned yesterday afternoon from a reliable source that P. St. George Barraud, before leaving the city, sold to Mr. H. P. Beck his interest in the claim for the Barran farm in Norfolk county. The suit brought by the Barraude, won in the Circuit Court of Norfolk county, is now in the Supreme Court of Appeals. Unless the lower court is reversed the family will become owners of exceedingly valuable property, now laid off into building lots worth a fortune.

Counsel for Mr. Bees will not discuss the case in any of its phases.

It is understood that the Commonwealth's Attorney, Mr. Richardson, is powerless to act, except through the grand jury, unless either one side or the other will swear out a warrant for Barraud. It was learned yesterday afternoon from raud.

Mr. R. E. Daniel, of Pleasant Hill, N.
C., who claims that his name was forged, had a talk with Mr. Richardson Tuesday, but is not prepared to have a warrant issued. It is understood that he inrant issued. It is understood that he intends having another conference with Mr. Richardson before long, when he may decide what course he is to pursue.

When the grand jury meets this month Mr. Richardson will ask that body to look into the transaction, and witnesses will be examined unless an unlooked for turn is taken.

Mr. Beck, who is maintaining that the deed of trust is genuine, does not desire to prosecute.

NELSON POLITICS

Captain J. C. Epps, who holds a responsible postion with the C. & O. Railroad at Gladstone, was in the city Tuesday and talked interestingly concerning politics in Nelson county. He said the fight this fall would be a lively one, as in addition to electing a member of the House, the people would also choose their county and district officers.

"So far as I know," said the Captain, Mr. Goodwin has not yet announced himself for ce-election to the House. If he shall come into the race he will give Dr. Everett, the Democratic nominee, something of a run, but the latter will be elected. Mrs. George L. L. Davis, a great social favorite during several years' residence in Richmond, will be the guest of Mrs. John Gordon Farland for the Horse Show.

DAILY FASHION HINTS

LADIES' SUIT.

LADIES' SUIT.

At the beginning of the season, when one's summer clothes begin to look a bit shabby, much interest is centered in the tailor-made costume, and there is no division of opinion about the mannish style, with its plain tailored finish, velvet colar and patterned as near as possible after the man's coat.

In the exceedingly smart design shown here the coat is single-breasted and the front gored to give the shaping so necessary to follow out the "straightfront" lines. The back seams are like those of the front, which shaping gives a good broad-shouldered effect. The back is belted in, although, if one prefers a loose coat, the belt may be omitted. Provision is made for either long or hip length, and the pattern also provides for the regular or lapped seams. The skirt is the new seven-gored flare, with regular or lapped seams, and may be made in dip, round or instep length and the under pleat turned backward or and the under pleat turned backward or forward, It is a very popular model, a style that does not change materially from season to season, except in the shaping of the fine.

A feature of the costume not to be overlooked is the different ways of making it up, which makes it almost as good as three patterns. The coat and the skirt may be long and a belt worn entirely around the coat, or both coat ano skirt may be shortened and the coat worn loose, or another mode would be to make a walking suit, with lapped seams. For ordinary wear it is neat, smart and becoming to almost all figures. When developed in tweed, homespun, cheviot, broadcloth or any of the lightweight cloths, it will be found a most satisfactory style for a general utility suit.

TO BE ROBING ROOM FOR ST. PAUL'S CHOIR Messrs. Noland and Baskerville, archi

Messrs. Noland and Baskerville, architects, are now engaged in drawing plans for the parish house, which Mr. Fred. R. Scott has given to St. Paul's Church in honor of his father. The house will form a part of St. Paul's Church. The basement floor is to be an addition to the Sunday-School room of the church while the floor on a level with the main auditorium will be used as a robing room for the choir. The two buildings will be connected by a door and the choir will enter from the parish house and come up the side aisle instead of the middle alise as it present. Now when the choir retires they have to go down the steps in the rear of the chance.

The annex will cost between three and four thousand dollars and it will be as rearly like the church as it is possible for it to be.

would say if it opened its mouth and could speak English!
What wonderful things it could tell of the briny deep; of the countless finny folks far down in the depths of the seal. How often we have wished some folks were as wise as oysters—wished that they knew enough to lay there and contemplate nature and the rest of the crowd and never say a word.
There are some people we know of, would receive the greatest admiration, if they'd only be an oyster. If they'd only study the changes that come in a life time without making any remarks.

If we had a chance at some of those fellows, we'd have them served up on the half shell and we'd throw the shell away.

We express the sentiments of many of our friends when we say that we are sorry the coming winter is going to be a hard one, for, like us, and like the grasshopper, there are many who live for to-day and have no such word as "to-morrow" in their catalogue.

If they had such a word they would only have to worry for two days instead of one, and what is the use of borrowing trouble.

It's bad enough to borrow money, with no chance of getting it back.

no chance of getting it back.

Our friend George told us he heard a man say he saw in a paper where a man said if we slept twenty hours a day we'd live 300 years.

There are some times when we would like to sleep, and there are tmes when we do not want to sleep, for people miss a whole lot while they are asleep.

Look at Rip Van Winkle.

How many good old hours did he miss at the tavern while he idled away his time in slumber on the Catakilis.

Suppose he had slept that way in these days.

What a lot of horse shows, and football games, and boat races, and Barnum's circuses he would have overlooked.

ball games, and boat races, and Barrium's circuses he would have overlooked.

But still had he slept he would not have had the aching brow and the dark brown taste thu comes with boing up so much.

Yet, if a fellow has to sleep twenty hours a day, and hustle one-sixth of a day, to live 30 years, what's the use?

If you have to be asleep 5-6 of the time you might as well be dead, and the living or awake years would only be fifty.

We think we'd rather sleep four hours and live the rest.

FINE SELECTIONS lardella's Band to Play Composition of Nrs. Ka'herine Miller Gunn.

Three of the selections which Iardella's Band will pay at the concerts this afternoon and evening at West End Electric Park, will be of unusual interest to music-lovers.

The selections are "The Slumber Song," Composed by Catherine Miller Gunn, of Richmond, well known in both musical and literary circles. This will be the first time these songs have been played in public.

Critics who have heard these three songs pronounce each a beautiful blending of harmonious melodies, sure to have
